The co-op program at the University of Toronto Scarborough is designed to give our students every advantage and prepare them to excel in an increasingly competitive and dynamic global job market.

Through partnerships with industry-leading domestic and multinational employers, our program empowers students to put classroom theory into practice and gain invaluable paid work experience.

Employers worldwide recognize the value of a University of Toronto education. We are proud to rank as the top public university in North America for graduate employability. (Times Higher Education, 2018)
